

A Level English Literature

Please read 'The Handmaid's Tale' by Margaret Atwood - this will be one of your set texts and you will be at a significant advantage if you have read it ahead of September. Any other dystopian fiction would likewise help you to start strong.

In addition to the reading, students should undertake a research task on Christina Rossetti. This work should be brought to class and will form the basis of some of our initial discussions.

Regards,

PHS English department